Tim in Ky Stage four is nominally underway but no official word of that. Lots of hype 05-09 06:09

BusterSci Junk science from fake cycling media. Sad.

05-09 06:58

BusterSci OK, I actually thought it was interesting

05-09 06:59

Tim in Ky I wonder who funded that study. Making those models couldn't have been 05-09 07:00 cheap. For now, the gap is holding at 5:00.

12 hour transfer is clearly the reason for the early rest day. More about logistics than actual rest.

BusterSci 5:08 and 121km 05-09 07:25

Rob I'm in and out today. Looking forward to this stage, any predictions? 05-09 07:25

 BusterSci If one thinks Quintana is really after the double, I think he tries to get some significant time today so he can defend, and save energy. 05-09 07:26

 BusterSci Nibali has to go if he wants to wear the maglia rosa into his home town of Messina. 05-09 07:27

 BusterSci Funny, but spell check changed "maglia rosa" to "magma rose". Since they're climbing Etna that makes sense. 05-09 07:27

 BusterSci Bauke Mollema showed great form at the Tour last year until he lost time in the late stages. He's going to give it a go, I think. 05-09 07:28

 BusterSci One would think Kruijswijk would want to make up some time. 05-09 07:30

 BusterSci Another bit of conventional wisdom is it's still too early to go nuts. Rob Hatch is saying that right now. The big boys will keep their powder dry until the last couple KM. They'll let somebody get away who isn't a GC threat and then ride more or less together to the end. Don't show your cards too early. 05-09 07:32

 BusterSci This climb flattens out at the end. Could that mean somebody like Dumoulin can power away the last KM and pick up bonus seconds? 05-09 07:33

 BusterSci I guess what I'm saying is it all sounds reasonable. We just haven't seen enough of any GC form to know who is on and who isn't. We assume the proven GT winners like Quintana and Nibali will be ready to fire shots. After that there's just a mass of up and comers and never quite got there that have to take their chances. 05-09 07:36

 BusterSci 6:17 and 116 as they ascend the Cat 2 climb that presages the big event. 05-09 07:37

 BusterSci Well, the Movistar DS just pulled out the oldest cliché in the grand tour book--namely that we won't see who will win today, but we'll certainly see who has lost the Giro. 05-09 07:38

 BusterSci Which leads me to Tejay van Garderen. BMC has clearly shifted their emphasis to Porte for the Tour and sent Tejay to the Giro. Many say this is to see how he does without the Tour pressure. If you believe that, then all the talk about Rohan Dennis having GC ambitions was there to further unload Tejay's shoulders. Get the media to focus on Dennis and Tejay can play a stealth game. 05-09 07:40

 BusterSci Personally, I think Tejay at his best is a top 10 rider but not a podium guy. 05-09 07:45

he doesn't have the explosive attack of the top guys even if he does have a motor that can keep him in contention on a climb. But he also can't get past having a bad day. Unfortunate, because early on in his career he looked to have a chance. I suspect he'll continue to be a nice 1 week rider and never really emerge as a Grand Tour contender.

BusterSci Pozzovivo is a sleeper. Cannondale has Rolland, Dombrowski and Formolo 05-09 07:48 who could make a show today. Pinot has been quiet so far and that may be a great sign for the Frenchman.

BusterSci Adam Yates is Orica's hope for this Giro. And Bob Jungels may put it all 05-09 07:49 out to get pink, since he's in 4th overall.

BusterSci Many think Zakarin from Katusha is a threat. And we still aren't sure if 05-09 07:50

Sky's main hope is Landa (who is wearing 171) or Thomas (179)

BusterSci Donny. 05-09 07:51

BusterSci Stormtrooper. 05-09 07:51

donny Buster, Buster, Buster and Buster Nice to see you all here 05-09 07:52

donny Fake cycling news, is nothing sacred in the world any more Buster? 05-09 07:53

BusterSci Stromtrooper. 05-09 07:54

BusterSci <https://youtu.be/LowVhCfLm68> 05-09 07:54

donny Have you seen that poor Zoom Zoom was hit and knocked off the road while 05-09 07:55 training in France not too far from his home?

BusterSci Yes. We discussed it briefly earlier but it's a topic that's always worth the 05-09 07:56 time. Not Froome, specifically, but the dangers on the road and the unacceptable idiocy of hit and run.

BusterSci 106km. 8:00 05-09 07:57

BusterSci Quickstep doing their job at the front of the peloton. While nobody thinks 05-09 08:00

Gaviria will be in pink at the end of the day Jungels has 10 seconds on Thomas and has a reasonable chance of keeping pink in the team.

donny You hit the nail on the head with that one your penguin-ness. I am betting as 05-09 08:03 well that Jungels takes pink for the day. That is unless the real GC boys do indeed decide to blow up Mt Etna donny Nibbles wants the stage for sure but if he goes everyone will follow and that 05-09 08:04 might not leave Jungels in with a shout for pink considering he only has 10sec buffer. I know he is good but realistically speaking, I don't believe his is that good.

donny I also think that other than nibbles the rest of them would be fine with Jungels 05-09 08:06 in pink making QS control the day to day for the coming week.

BusterSci That's one of the things about these races. Quintana and Nibali obviously 05-09 08:06 have the pedigree. But there's always someone that's an up-and-comer that comes all the way up and shows his quality. It could be Jungels this year.

BusterSci Donny, you say if Nibali goes everyone will follow. I think that helps 05-09 08:10

Jungels. If Quintana goes the way he can, nobody will be able to follow. But if it's a group, Jungels has a better chance of riding behind the chase and making it over the line with the group.

BusterSci QS keeping it at around 8 minutes with about 100km to go. 05-09 08:11

BusterSci Can I be the first to say that mustaches look absolutely stoopid on cyclists? 05-09 08:13

BusterSci Dennis rumored to have abandoned. 05-09 08:14

BusterSci I picked Dennis on my fantasy team purely for the TTs. Bummer. 05-09 08:15

donny That is a big bummer for both of us Buster 05-09 08:15

donny Not to mention, I am sure a bummer for him and BMC 05-09 08:15

donny I think if Nibali goes he will go hard creating perhaps a very elite selection. I 05-09 08:17

don't have Jungels making in that selection in my mind.

BusterSci If I were a betting man I still wouldn't bet on the first mountain finish of the 05-09 08:18 first GT of the season.

BusterSci Dennis' abandon is confirmed

05-09 08:18

donny I will bet on your wisdom of not betting being the right move.

05-09 08:19

BusterSci Nibbles sends one of his boys to the front.

05-09 08:23

BusterSci 95km. 7:38

05-09 08:24

BusterSci Time to start closing things down.

05-09 08:24

donny I have about an hour before I am going to have to leave. Really, really shitty timing on behalf of my clients.

05-09 08:26

BusterSci GD and Katie. Welcome.

05-09 08:26

05-09 08:27

Katie and GD

05-09 08:27

Katie Portella Femminia Morta climb? What the heck kinda name is THAT?

Tim in Ky With 84km to go gap is down to 6:00.

05-09 08:43

donny Pavel Brutt came in 3rd on the KOM points from the break away. Yeah, Pavel

05-09 08:43

Brutt, I love the diverse names.

donny 83 to go with the gap coming down pretty quick now. 5:45

05-09 08:44

05-09 08:44

Tim in Ky Dennis abandon is confirmed. My fantasy team will suffer.

05-09 08:46

05-09 08:48

Tim in Ky This is not a particularly "interesting" descent.

05-09 08:48

Katie OK, that's even better.

05-09 08:48

donny Tim you are the third we have confirmed to have lost a rider off of the fantasy

05-09 08:48

team. Nuts think alike it seems

Katie Didn't realize he'd stopped off for a mud pack facial at the local spa.

Tim in Ky Don't have to look it up.

05-09 08:51

BusterSci We have an Orica getting a wheel change

05-09 08:52

05-09 08:52

that front wheel change

Tim in Ky Slowest front wheel change in history for Orica.

05-09 08:54

Tim in Ky I haven't gotten used to seeing Nibbles in red and black. Still looking for

05-09 08:59

Tim in Ky Losada (Kat) had crashed.Collarbone?

05-09 09:01

BusterSci Agreed, Tim. Tony Martin in Katusha kit is even harder for me.

05-09 09:08

wanted to try to jump the field again at the 1 km marker. He hoped to sneak off the front again? Funny, but when he hit the front, the headwind hit him and that was that. Props for trying something but I think he should have stayed on Greipel's wheel for as long as he could.

donny Much safer to have boring downhills though.

05-09 09:08

Tim in Ky Wasn't that safe for Losada.

05-09 09:09

05-09 09:59

BusterSci Come to think of it, I remember a conversation a few years back that Phil and Paul were constantly (ahem) cycling through US, Aussie and South African coverage. Sometimes they were covering for all but often when you'd hear only one for a while the other was doing country specific coverage, highlighting their national riders. As annoying as they can be, that's quite a talent to juggle it all.

05-09 10:01

BusterSci 26km. 5:05
