

 Tim in KY Gdl Stage 5 is 174 kilometers from Catania to Messina. The first 39 km are north along the east coast of Sicily. The route then turns inland but continues up back to the north coast for what is likely to be a reduced bunch sprint finish. 05-10-2022 05:21:33 pm

 Tim in KY The reason for the reduced bunch is a Cat 2 climb that crests with 99 kilometers to go. The climb is not particularly steep â€” 4% average â€” but it is 19.5 km long and likely to shed some of the sprinter as it did when used in 2020. The remainder of the course is flat with a few minor undulations. 05-10-2022 05:22:30 pm

 Tim in KY The final 5 kilometers are mostly strait, but there are two left-hand turns in the last 1300 meters. 05-10-2022 05:23:27 pm

 Tim in KY Kilometer zero is scheduled for a very early 11:45. Finish is imagined either side of 16:00. Forecast is for sunshine and low 20s. 05-10-2022 05:24:51 pm

 Tim in KY I assume this insanely early start is due to having to ferry everybody over to the mainland tonight. 05-11-2022 05:45:33 am

 Tim in KY Big fight to get in the break. Why? 05-11-2022 05:50:52 am

 Tim in KY Now it settles down. Five off the front. 05-11-2022 05:53:18 am
