Tim in Ky Race starts at 13:10 CET (7:10 EDT). Live video from the get go. 05-13 14:38

BusterSci Move along. Nothing to see here. For a few minutes at least. 05-14 07:00

BusterSci As if anyone cares, I predict this stage plays out one of two ways in the GC: 05-14 07:02

BusterSci 1). Movistar will push the pace early on the climb--or pre-climb, as Tim has 05-14 07:04 explained to us. Nairo will attack early and he'll attack hard. If he expends this energy early, all he needs to do is defend through the remainder of the race, thus conserving energy and form that he'll need to contest a Giro-Tour double.

BusterSci 2). The big GC guys will continue to stare at each other, knowing how hard 05-14 07:07 the final week is. Second tier riders will use this opportunity to grab a stage and maybe the pink jersey. Quickstep (meaning Jungels) will have to work to keep the maglia rosa and as such, Jungels will essentially drag Quintana, Nibali and others to the finish, where they'll try to get a bit of time on each other over the last km.

BusterSci Hi, Tim. 05-14 07:08

David Stanley Good morning all. Hope to hang out for a bit before Mother's Day

05-14 08:53

Brunch calls. Of course, with Mom being 82, it calls loudly. Good day, all.

BusterSci They are a few km from beginning the short climb to Chieti, but an appetizer for the battle to come.

05-14 08:54

BusterSci D-Stan, my mom is also 82. But plugging along without issue.

05-14 08:54

BusterSci I suppose if you want to get technical, she did have issue. Me and my three brothers.

05-14 08:55

David Stanley BusterSci - mom admitted last night that her memory is going. We've known that for several years but it's her first admission. Bittersweet moment. And four boys? Yeesh.

05-14 08:56

BusterSci Yeah. 4 boys. And my three brothers had seven daughters.

05-14 08:56

David Stanley Gimme a sec to do the math.

05-14 08:57

BusterSci Hint: The daughters are not split evenly amongst the brothers.

BusterSci Hi Katie!

05-14 08:59

David Stanley I see Nairo going with all the moves today but not starting one himself until the group is whittled down to three or four. The blockhaus is long enough and steep enough to separate the pretenders and contenders today

05-14 08:59

Katie Happy Mother's Day, all!

05-14 09:00

-  BusterSci Yet another day where I'm subtracting the km remaining, shown on screen, 05-14 08:22 from the stage length, shown on the profile. Wouldn't it make much more sense for the organizers to label the X axis of the profile with km remaining?
-  BusterSci Movistar to the fore 05-14 08:22
-  Tim in Ky I think Orica is on point now. 05-14 08:22

05-14 09:29

BusterSci So as we prepare to watch the climb, I'm thinking there are two groups of contenders out there today: those who are excellent time trailers and those who aren't. A guy like Tom Dumoulin can afford to lose some time to Quintana today. A guy like Pinot cannot. That will play into how they ride this climb.

05-14 09:30

Mons Soseman Hey everyone, I know we have passed the Kelley unit, but I also know 05-14 09:49 that with this climb there is abundant time, so I will be posting my thoughts soon.

David Stanley 40 second gap. 27 km to go. Climb begins, in a wee way, in just a few. 05-14 09:49

Then another slight descent, and the Blockhas begins.

BusterSci Looks like they've pulled the support cars

05-14 09:51

BusterSci The three in front have about 100m

05-14 09:57

BusterSci Or less

05-14 09:57

BusterSci Rolland dropped back. Just two in front.

05-14 09:58

BusterSci Movistar gobbles up the two in front.

05-14 09:59

David Stanley Never understood why Rolland, such a good climber, went in that 05-14 09:59 move. But then, I missed most of the early kms.

BusterSci Nibali and two Bahrains sit behind Movistar. 05-14 09:59

BusterSci I think Rolland is there for stages and showing the colors. Formalo is the 05-14 09:59 man.

BusterSci Formolo 05-14 10:00

David Stanley roger that, BusterSci 05-14 10:00

BusterSci Sky is not driving things, which is odd. Have you ever seen a Sky team, in 05-14 10:01 with a shot at a GT, not drive a climb?

Katie I don't believe I have, now that wyou mention it 05-14 10:01

BusterSci It's still early, so this isn't definitive yet. 05-14 10:01

David Stanley Keeping their powder dry, until the climb starts in earnest. 05-14 10:02

BusterSci I think it's also the fact that Nairo scares the crap out of everyone. 05-14 10:03

David Stanley Thomas is in good form, I believe, and we have not seen a single SKY 05-14 10:03 at the front. Smart, but yes, everyone is very respectful of Nairo.

BusterSci I hear SFon owns a whole chain of Mobil stations down in Austin. 05-14 10:03
