RCG Come not gone. Stupid autocorrect.

05-25-2025
05:48:44 am

RCG We're up early for "the race" today. The forecast has improved.

05-25-2025
05:49:14 am

RCG The green flag drops at 12:45. Rain chance in Indy has dropped from 25ish percent to 2 or 3 percent and temp forecast has increased from 66 deg to 70. It should be a pleasant day... weather-wise, at least.

05-25-2025
05:57:32 am

Tim in KY Five man "break" with a wapping 9 seconds. Coming up to the little Cat 4.

05-25-2025
06:26:47 am

Tim in KY Weather is looking fine for the bike race, too.

05-25-2025
06:28:18 am

Tim in KY Break evaporated on the Cat 4.

05-25-2025
06:36:02 am

Tim in KY A big group is 0:45 off the back including Tiberi and Pedersen.

05-25-2025
06:43:35 am

Tim in KY Three big groups about a minute between them. Front group is currently faster than the fastest...

05-25-2025
07:06:48 am

Tim in KY Now two groups, a 34 man "break" and everybody else 2:30 behind.

05-25-2025
07:12:51 am

Tim in KY Of course everything will come apart in 20 km when the hit the Cat 1.

Mike from MA Good morning. Off to a spin class in an hour.

05-25-2025
08:07:54 am

Tim in KY It's bound to be more exciting than this climb, Mike.

05-25-2025
08:10:14 am

Mike from MA Yes, too early in the stage for significant action. I always enjoy the mountain top finishes. They are usually not to be missed.

05-25-2025
08:12:30 am

Tim in KY Still 13+ km to climb.

05-25-2025
08:16:14 am

Mike from MA For some NRRBBB, went with my wife and daughter to see Stars on Ice last night. We also attended the World Championships in Boston in March and saw the US win three golds in Ladies Mens, and Dance. We saw them all last night with former Canadian Champ Elvis Stojko as the veteran leader of the skaters. 53 years old and still quite fit. Max Naumov, who lost his parents in the DC crash, was a guest skater since it was at Skating Club of Boston, his home rink and club.

05-25-2025
08:20:17 am

Tim in KY Eight degrees at the top of this climb. That will be a chilly descent for a while.

05-25-2025
08:26:44 am

Tim in KY I could never ice skate. My ankles don't like it.

05-25-2025
08:27:45 am

Mike from MA I learned at 30. Quality of the skates is what supports your ankles.

RCG We made it to the track. The smart people rode bikes here.

05-25-2025
09:11:45 am

Tim in KY No offence RCG, but I've never been able to be excited by watching cars zip around in circles.

05-25-2025
09:12:51 am

RCG Imagine 350,000 people dumping into the same place all at once. The day starts at 0500 fro a 12:45 race.

05-25-2025
09:13:40 am

RCG I married an Indy man so it's sort of an obligation. Stinky loud cars going in circles for hours.

PasadenaK8 Quad-Feed tip... Two browser tabs (mute one tab). Make the Quad a pop-up, and make it the size of a extra large playing card, and move it up to the right-hand corner. Overlay it over the full screen single feed. Keeping the Quad smaller is key = no need for Dramamine.

SFinAus "Learned" basic ice skating at ~40. A few years later broke my wrist doing it. Oh well. I did get to skate at the US speed skating center which was cool. I mean, it's open to the public, but still felt cool.

05-25-2025

05-25-2025
10:33:37 am

05-25-2025
10:33:41 am

05-25-2025
10:43:01 am

05-25-2025
10:43:03 am

Katie S Did Rog have a crash or is he just having a crummy day?

05-25-2025

05-25-2025
10:44:26 am

Tim in KY Although it may be from yesterday's crash.

05-25-2025
10:45:29 am

Mike from MA Just got back from spin. Spinning was a nemesis of mine also. I wouldn't properly cross my free foot over the skating foot so

05-25-2025
10:47:10 am

I could pull in and rotate faster. There is a speed skating club near me and after the 2000 Olympics one of the Olympic speed skaters from this area came and did a clinic. My daughter did it for a while and had talent and a good build for it. She could speed skate on the short track with perfect technique. However, she prefers team sports and quit after about a year. Her club was hosting Junior Nationals and my daughter was signed up for an event. I kept telling her she needed to practice and couldn't go into such an event without any preparation. We were driving to the first event and she absorbed enough of my warnings that she barfed in my car. We turned around and went home and she never speed skated again. When she inherited that car at age 16.5 she named the car "Chuck." She preferred and still prefers synchronized skating but I would have liked to see her seriously try an Olympic sport and see how much talent she had.

Katie S Yesterday ended up being an utter disaster for so many riders with that cobble crash.

05-25-2025
10:47:14 am

Katie S Wow, Mike. What a kid!

05-25-2025
10:48:15 am

05-25-2025

05-25-2025
10:50:56 am

bikerabe another new winner !05-25-2025
10:51:02 am

Mike from MA She later went right before an April Noreaster to visit her friend at Norwich in VT. I told her, do not leave right as the storm hits. I was afraid she would end up stranded or off the road in the boonies of NH on her way home. Of course, she left at the height of the storm and didn't even get out of town before she spun out and ended up off the road. While figuring out what to do standing outside her car, another driver lost control and spun out and barely missed her. Chuck was totaled. I had to drive up and pick her up and abandon Chuck to an autobody shop in Norwich. So much for smart decisions by college freshman.
