

Tim in KY TdF Stage 12 is 165 kilometers through the high Alps from Briançon to a summit finish on l'Alpe d'Huez. The first 135 km are a carbon copy of stage 7 of this year's Critérium du Dauphin. The only thing missing back in June was the Huez climb.

07-14-2022
08:58:00 am

RCG So, we got our copy of the book that Katie S edited; âœBefore The Dolphins Guildâ€ by Jon H. Gates. Itâ€™s about two early US Navy submarine rescues, in 1915 and 1916. Fairly small boats with crews of 20 to 25, and once you submerged you had no way to see or determine where you were or what was around you, couldnâ€™t communicate with anyone except through ringing a bell in the ship that others might be able to hear for a distance of a few miles, saltwater could get in and start fires and react with batter components to produce poisonous chlorine gas and volatile hydrogen gasâ€¦what could go wrong? Â Itâ€™s an interesting read.

10:15:36 am

KinPA Oooh, Rorschach tests on a shirt

07-14-2022
10:18:01 am

RCG Tim, instead of a white shirt, you start with an already-colored shirt.

07-14-2022
10:24:14 am

(The above one was black to start). Tie it up, let it dry, remove some of the color (with bleach and then neutralize the bleach to prevent holes, or with RIT Color Remover or Out White Brite, which don't need the neutralization step but which both smell like a cross between a pack of wet dogs and a Tony home perm.). rinse, soak in soda ash, dry (takes a week or so) and over-dye with various colors. If you've done it right you don't remove too much color and end up with striking black (in this case) patterns mixed in with color mixed in. A Labor intensive, lots of steps, easy to mess up, time-consuming, but the results can be fun.

10:40:53 am

Alaska Dave Good morning. I'm feeling fatigue without riding. With my wife in St Cloud MN, I don't worry about disturbing her. Now if only I didn't have a job. .

07-14-2022
10:45:06 am

Trish in MA I'm back! Â for the next 45 mins, and won't be able to see the finish. Â I saw a thing on CN that the Croix d Fer was going to take an hour, and Tim confirmed that.

10:49:21 am

Charlie in Tenn John, I have a big mess of stamps. I have 4 volumes Scott International of worldwide stamps 1840 - about 1960. This has spaces for a general collection but not a lot of the very expensive stamps. I have a US collection that has all but about 100 of the most expensive used stamps and a collection of mint/unused US up to about 1930 that is fairly full of the cheaper mint stamps. I have a Greenland collection, Iceland collection, and about 7 cartons of other albums/collections/loose stuff that I am supposed to be sorting. There are some first day covers, old envelopes, plate blocks books, magazines, pamphlets, US year books, and just about any other philatelic items. So kinda.

07-14-2022
10:56:11 am

John Ha, yeah, kinda ;)

07-14-2022
10:57:04 am

Charlie in Tenn My problem is that it is easy to buy stamps but much harder to sell stamps.

07-14-2022
10:58:02 am

Trish in MA My problem is that it is very easy and quick to buy yarn, but much longer to knit something with the yarn. Â I have enough yarn that I don't really need to buy any yarn for probably 20 years. Â However, I always buy at least a skein whenever I go on vacation, so my yarn stash is probably like Charlie's stamp stash.

07-14-2022
10:59:35 am

Trish in MA Plus the books, needles, notions,

11:00:28 am

Charlie in Tenn My wife has yarn on my stamp bookshelf. I feel your pain.

07-14-2022
11:01:03 am

BusterSci I felt very good about myself when I stopped buying wood because it was cool and instead just bought for a specific project. My next step in recovery was putting the scraps and cutoffs in the burn pile instead of saving them in case I needed it some day.

07-14-2022
11:03:26 am

Trish in MA Not my pain. Â However, my husband wants me to straighten up the stash space because he wants to work on the attic access panel. Â I've told him he has to give me 2 weeks, and it can't take any longer than 1 week. Â I'll have to move all the yarn out so that it doesn't get covered in wood dust or drywall dust etc.

07-14-2022
11:03:42 am

Trish in MA Buster, I'm still using scraps of yarn that are left over from projects completed 40 years ago.

07-14-2022
11:04:31 am

Trish in MA Glad to see Froome still in the lead group.
