Tim in Ky The first 149 km are basically flat. The final 50 km include a Cat 2 followed immediately by a Cat 3 then a 20 km descent to a steep hill at 5 km to go.

05-20 16:53

Tim in Ky Kilometer 0 at 12:15 CET (6:15 EDT). Live video at 13:05 CET (7:05

Tim in Ky The riders are in the neutral zone. I'll be back later.

05-21 06:22

BusterSci 4 in a break. Roy, Barca, Hofland and Devenyns. 20s

05-21 06:38

BusterSci Does TT Tom's win put the icing on the cake? Maybe the icing on the first 05-21 06:51 layer, I think. The cake is made in earnest after tomorrow's rest day. Yesterday's stage was more like a mountain TT than a real mountain stage. It was barely 3 hours long, and flat for the first 2:30 or so with a 20-30 minute all out finish. One might consider it a training day for a guy like Dumoulin. Nairo attacked hard and got a gap, but on this sort of stage Tom didn't have to counter. He could just grind away like this was a TT and slowly pull things back. And that's why, after catching Quintana, he had enough in the tank to get up out of his seat and attack and get that 14s gap on him.

BusterSci Don't expect it to happen the same way on Tuesday. The stage doesn't finish 05-21 06:53 on a climb, but with three monstrous climbs in succession, it's a trump mountain stage and not what we watched Saturday. And the drop into the finish at Bormio? When they put that in, someone was thinking "Nibali."

BusterSci After 21km the break has 27s. 05-21 06:54

BusterSci For those following the record of Adam Hansen, he's back on his carbon 05-21 06:55 fiber horse this morning after yesterday's crash and determined to finish out the Giro and keep his streak intact.

BusterSci On the pre-race show still showing on Tiz it appears Dumoulin had trouble 05-21 06:57 throwing his bouquets beyond the press pool.

Tim in Ky This break isn't getting very far at all. 05-21 06:59

BusterSci I'm still just getting Giro Extra on Tiz, 05-21 07:04

Tim in Ky Fubo hasn't started up, either. 05-21 07:05

Tim in Ky Some disagreement about whether Rui Costa has bridged up to the break. 05-21 07:10

At 0:18, it harly seems to matter.

Tim in Ky Still no video. 05-21 07:10

BusterSci Dumoulin has an interesting early history in cycling. He originally wanted 05-21 07:15 to be a doctor but didn't get into med school. He went a year pursuing a health sciences degree, hated it, and decided to turn pro in cycling. He signed with Cervelo for 2011 but when they disbanded he rode for the Rabobank Development team. The following year he joined Project 1t4i, the precursor to today's Sunweb team. I wonder if Vaughters had an opportunity to bring him in when Cervelo merged with Garmin in 2011?

Tim in Ky Do you have video yet, Buster? 05-21 07:17

BusterSci I see autocorrect was active this morning. Above I intended to call 05-21 07:18

Tuesday's stage a "true" mountain stage and somehow it was decided by the AI that I meant to call it a "Trump" mountain stage. I must violate the no-politics zone to at least mention the controversial nature of that substitution.

BusterSci I've stepped away from the screen temporarily. Give me a couple minutes. 05-21 07:18

BusterSci I do, 146.4km and 36 seconds. 05-21 07:19

BusterSci And I should go to Tel-Aviv 05-21 07:19

BusterSci Interestingly, even though I'm back home this morning I can only get the 05-21 07:20

480p stream to work on Tiz. The full HD stream has been frozen all morning.

-  Tim in Ky I have nothing. 05-21 07:21
-  BusterSci Commercials 05-21 07:22
-  BusterSci Live video 05-21 07:23
-  BusterSci 142.9km. 16s 05-21 07:23
-  Tim in Ky Actually, nothing on Fubo is working. It's not just the Giro. 05-21 07:23
-  Rob Good afternoon. 05-21 07:23
-  BusterSci My Tiz problem was actually my problem. I shut off autoplay videos in my browser because I hate them with a vicious passion. I forgot to reset that flag this morning.. 05-21 07:25
-  Tim in Ky Now that you can see, is Costa in the break or not? 05-21 07:26
-  BusterSci Maplensa airport on the screen. May I suggest to any Nuts out there that if you do have need to fly into Milan, make every effort to utilize Linate airport instead of Malpensa. 05-21 07:26
-  BusterSci Focus on the peloton right now 05-21 07:27
-  BusterSci At 10s I'm not sure it matters. 05-21 07:27
-  BusterSci No. Zhupa is, though. 05-21 07:27
-  BusterSci There are 5 but Rui Costa is not one. 05-21 07:28
-  BusterSci They are passing an endless series of roundabouts. This is the 5th thus far in the last couple minutes. 05-21 07:29
-  BusterSci 137.2, 10s 05-21 07:30

	BusterSci 129km. 18s	05-21 07:39
	Tim in Ky I saw that. But he's still racing.	05-21 07:39

 BusterSci If you have an obscure type of endurance record you may as well pile on as 05-21 07:40 long as you can.17 consecutive GT starts is OK, but 17 finishes is what he's after.

 BusterSci Peloton lined out 05-21 07:41

 BusterSci The camera Moto broke his steadicam, I think. No real reason for footage as 05-21 07:42 bumpy as that.

 Tim in Ky Speed bumps? 05-21 07:42

 BusterSci Autocorrect must think I am always referring to crappy, obsolete mobile 05-21 07:43 phones every time I type Moto. Insists on capitalizing it.

 Tim in Ky 0:26 now. 05-21 07:43

 BusterSci 29 05-21 07:43

 Tim in Ky Still people trying to bridge. 05-21 07:44

 BusterSci But riders still are pushing off the front as they come out of a roundabout. 05-21 07:44

 BusterSci These have not been the wide open autoroutes of prior stages. Lots of 05-21 07:45 narrow roads with slightly technical roundabouts.

 BusterSci Definitely easier for the break than the peloton. 05-21 07:45

 BusterSci On AG2R seems to have made a gap on the peloton. 05-21 07:45

05-21 09:06

Toulouse I posted once last year, but I've been following LUG since his Unnamed

05-21 09:13

 BusterSci MONS!

05-21 09:13

 Tim in Ky Morning, Mons.

05-21 09:13

 Tim in Ky That is a tough Cat 2. The average gradient is pulled down by the flats at the bottom and the top.

05-21 09:15

 Mons Soseman I dithered about going up today, but the possible plan included trains and planes and possible rental cars... it just didn't work. I was also dithering, not those eternal questions like "Shall I eat a peach?" but like "will the downtown Milan rental car agency be open on Sunday, even if they say they are" and "If the train arrives in Milan at 9:40, could I rent a car and be at the start before the noon start."

05-21 09:15

 Mons Soseman I was invited back to the team bus, but didn't make it...

05-21 09:16

05-21 09:42

BusterSci Sunweb leads on the descent.

05-21 09:42

Tim in Ky There will be more DNS sprinters after the rest day.

05-21 09:43

BusterSci looks like it isn't a steep descent

05-21 09:43

Tim in Ky Or long.

05-21 09:43

Tim in Ky The next one is very long.

05-21 09:44

BusterSci Narrow roads, though

05-21 09:44

memb54 I saw a Sky rider with a piece of his shorts missing. Did he have a fall?

05-21 09:44

BusterSci 38km. 33s to Rolland group, 54 to pink

05-21 09:45

BusterSci Not reported that I've seen.

memb54 I'm on a Eurosport 1 link on youtube.

05-21 09:45

Tim in Ky Has it been repaved? Last fall at il Lombardia it was in bad shape.

05-21 09:46

Mons Soseman So, I've got a few random thoughts I started the other day (was that Wednesday or Thursday?) before the week got crazy busy. Today is not much lighter but I have finished them off, but this time truly random and unpolished, you understand...

05-21 09:46

BusterSci It doesn't look like fresh tarmac.

05-21 09:46

BusterSci Random thoughts. Hard for me to be critical of that.
